

The Kindergarten Connection

January

What Have We Been Learning?

Your child continues to build on reading strategies through whole group stories, guided reading, and independent reading. Please continue to read stories with your child at night.

We have learned the word wall words "here", "for", and "me". We have also introduced the word family >an. Please practice these words at home. We continue to build on recognizing rhyming words orally and in text.

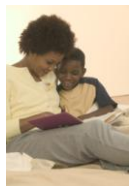

In writing, we continue to build sentences using words we know and words in our environment. We are also adding details to our stories through words and pictures.

In Math, we learned about symmetry and fractions. We know wholes, halves, thirds, and quarters. We also know each piece must be an equal part to be a fraction. Look for fractions around you!

As for Social Studies, we have been discussing Christmas traditions around the world. Ask your child, "If you could visit any country for Christmas, where would it be and why?"

For extra support, please be sure that you help your child with any work sent home.

This could include books

Please encourage your child to become independent.

Help your child learn to zip his, or her, own coat and tie his, or her, own shoes.
